

Average?

“Anyone can be average. What STOPS average?

People that are willing to work and do things that aren't fun. Those willing to look at their weaknesses, then commit to making them a strength.”

If you are not going to do something to the very best of your ability don't do it.

Why in the world would you ever settle for mediocrity?