

Setting and managing your standards

For any team to be successful it must set how it is going to behave and manage itself – below are some hints and tips of how to set and manage standards.

---

---

For further reading here are some other articles:

Managing Accountability

Developing Accountability